Art Unit: 1775

1. Newly submitted claim 17 directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: claim 17 is a final product of the immediate product originally claimed

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 17 is withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 2-8,10-12,15-16,18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Repenning et al (5,205,188) or Plath (5,077,990) or MacIver et al (4,554,208) or Sumitomo (JP6-294307) in view of Dorfman et al (5,466,431) or Sho (5,843,571).

Repenning et al or Plath or MacIver et al or Sumitomo disclose the known use of carbon or diamond like coatings on a slidable member, but they do not disclose the explicit carbon coating.

Dorfman et al or Sho discloses the claimed carbon coating to be used wear resistant environments.

Art Unit: 1775

Thus it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the coating of Dorfman or Sho on the slidable members disclosed by Repenning et al or Plath or MacIver et al or Sumitomo, as these carbon coatings are known to provide improved performance.
